- Prerequisite for every order is a meaningful and clear description of the goods from the customer. The delivery period is valid from the time when this information, the written order and the payment arrived at the supplier. Many times this information includes drawings (for example drawing of plates).
- The currency of the prices is US Dollars (USD).
- The payment by the buyer for the price of the goods is due in advance.
- The prices are only binding for a certain period of time, as there are major fluctuations in the currency exchange rate and transportation costs as well as other uncertain circumstances. This period is recorded in the price list or in the suppliers offer.

Included in the price are:

- Finished product, as described in the price list or in the offer.
- Import taxes, custom-fees and custom-broker.
- If ordered sum, or relevant partial delivery is higher than USD 3'000, than shipping cost to final destination in USA or Canada is included (except Hawaii, Yukon Territories, Northwest Territories, Nunavut).

Not included (excluded) in the price are

- sales tax
- value added tax (VAT) / GST etc.
- as well as any possible other taxes that are not listed as included (above).

The supplier will not pay any storage cost or any cost because of too early delivery and will not pay any costs, fees, or penalties due to late delivery.
